

Preparedness, it's a family thing...

“An employee that is overly concerned about his or her family is darn near worthless. The investment in dealing with this concern pays big dividends in the long run. Of course, pre-[disaster] planning at home can prove to be invaluable for all concerned.”

Richard J. Evans, San Francisco Fire Chief

Are you ready?

1. Do you believe that your community is ready for a disaster?
2. Is your family ready for a disaster?
3. Have you discussed all the hazards in your community?

Are you ready?

4. Do you have minimal supplies for 72 hours?
5. Do you have a 72 hour kit for an evacuation?
6. Does your car have a 72 hour kit?

Are you ready?

7. Are all your family members current in first aid and CPR?
8. Do you have an operational smoke detector?
9. Do you have an ABC fire extinguisher in your home?

Are you ready?

10. Do your family members know how to turn off all the utilities?

11. Are all your important papers safeguarded from fire and flood?

12. Do you have an evacuation plan?

Are you ready?

13. Have you had a family fire drill in the last year?

14. Do you have an out-of-area phone contact?

15. Do you have a disaster buddy?

Are you ready?

16. If you have children, do their facilities have plans and do you know what they say?

17. Is there a good reason why you answered “NO” to any of the first 16 questions?

Are you ready?

18. Do you want a neighborhood preparedness plan?

Children have special needs.

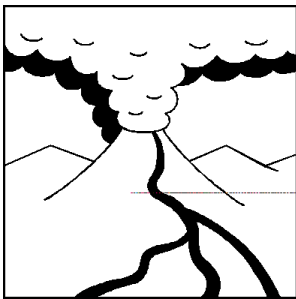

- Security
- Games
- Photos

Disaster Preparedness

- Know the hazards
- Make a plan
- Practice the plan

Know the hazards!

Earthquake

Tsunami

Flood

Hazmat

Volcano

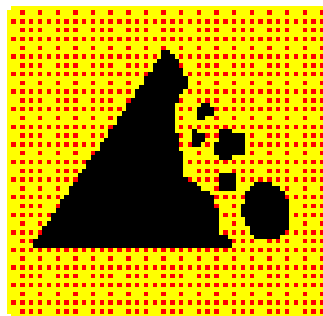

Wind

Heat & Cold

Fire

Lifelines

Blackout

Make a plan!

Practice the plan!

Establish your out of area contact TODAY!

Act now!

If you don't do something in the next 24 hours, you will probably do nothing at all!